

A group of eight young Irish Georgians, four men and four women, are posed in a grand room. They are dressed in a mix of modern and traditional styles. The room features a large black and white checkered floor, a white fireplace mantel, and a large painting of a landscape with a castle. The title 'THE YOUNG ONES' is written in large, bold, black letters in the upper right corner.

THE YOUNG ONES

As the Irish Georgian Society celebrates its 50th birthday, we meet the next generation, the Young Irish Georgians. By KATE O'DOWD.
Photographs by LINDA BROWNLEE.

